Switch on and start surfing: Telefónica Germany makes Fujitsu's notebooks and PCs mobile

- SIM card pre-installed in portable devices
- Special prepaid-tariffs to choose from
- One month surfing for free

MUNICH. Telefónica Germany makes Fujitsu-notebooks fit for the mobile Internet. As of now, almost every LIFEBOOK-edition or tablet PC from Fujitsu in Germany contains a pre-installed Telefónica SIM card. After switching the PC on and going through the short registration, customers can start surfing immediately. Especially attractive: The first month within the mobile Internet is for free.

As one of the first manufacturers of portable PCs, Fujitsu equips almost its entire product portfolio with SIM cards from Telefónica Germany. Mobile Internet access is possible with every device bringing an integrated 3G module.

"In addition to the smartphone market, the connection of tablets and notebooks to the mobile internet offers us an interesting growth opportunity", says Michiel van Eldik, Managing Director Wholesale & Partnermanagement, Telefónica Germany. "With Fujitsu Technology Solutions, we were able to convince an established partner within the business and private client sector of our data tariffs, the quality of our network and our services."

As of now, customers have the choice between three special prepaid tariffs, available via selected specialist shops. The ‚Tagesflatrate' for 2.95 euro is made for occasionally accessing e-mail and websites. Full speed is available up to a data volume of 1 GB, afterwards surfing can continue with 64 KB/s.

The ‚Monatsflatrate 500' for 9.95 euro is best for occasional surfers; the restriction becomes effective at 500 MB. The ‚Monatsflatrate 5000' for 24.95 euro is tailored to the needs of frequent surfers, including unrestricted web access up to 5 GB. Apart from the fixed daily and monthly fees, there are no additional costs. Contract durations do not exist either. During the first month, clients go online for free.

The entry into the World Wide Web is as simple as can be: After switching the PC on and registering, the client chooses the preferred tariff via the special ‚My Mobile' platform at http://www.my-mobile-internet.de/fujitsu. A registration via telephone is also possible.

With the new offering, Telefónica continues the successful cooperation with Fujitsu. Telefónica provides voice and data services as Fujitsu's mobile phone partner within 15 European countries since March 2011.

Telefónica Germany GmbH & Co. OHG and its brands O_2 and Alice belong to Telefónica Europe and are part of the Spanish telecommunication group Telefónica S.A. The Company offers its German private and business customers postpaid and prepaid mobile telecom products as well as innovative mobile data services based on the GPRS and UMTS technologies. In addition, the integrated communications provider also offers DSL fixed network telephony and high-speed internet. According to a network test by "connect" magazine (edition 12/10), the O_2 network is top of the list when it comes to reliable file downloads and champion in the telephony category. In the overall result the company is on second position. "Kundenmonitor Deutschland 2011" honoured Telefónica Germany as the network operator with the most satisfied mobile phone customers in the German market for the fifth time in a row. Telefónica Europe has more than 57 million mobile and fixed network customers in Great Britain, Ireland, the Czech Republic, Slovakia and Germany.
