Alice Comfort and Alice Comfort Office: Now with mobile phone flatrate to all German networks

MUNICH. Effective immediately, Telefónica Germany is offering business customers with Alice Comfort and Alice Comfort Office a new flatrate: For just 35 euros net per month customers can make unlimited calls to all German mobile phone networks. The Alice Comfort packages are complete connections consisting of telephone line and Internet access.

With the new option, freelancers, the self-employed and small businesses can now enjoy a complete service: Alice Comfort and Alice Comfort Office already contains two attractive flatrates for calls to the German fixed network and for Internet usage. Those who add the new flatrate to this can additionally make free calls to all German mobile networks.

“This three-way flatrate enables even greater cost control and transparency for our business customers,” said Johannes Pruchnow, Managing Director Business at Telefónica Germany. “We provide companies of any size with products that suits them best – with our usual first-class service and using one of the most modern networks in Europe.”

The Alice Comfort and Alice Comfort Office business customer offers are ideal for companies with between 5 and 50 employees. Alongside the complete package for fixed network calls and Internet access, the tariffs also offer 24-hour support via the toll-free service hotline as well as full security for Internet use thanks to an integrated anti-virus package. In addition to this, the Alice Disk allows safe and convenient online storage of up to five gigabytes of data at no additional cost.

Another attractive offer: New customers who sign a 24-month Alice Comfort Office contract by 16 January 2012 will save up to 334 euros. Included is a starter credit of 84.03 euros, a discount on the monthly basic fee of 8.40 euros for the first six months as well as the free addition of the flatrate option for calls to the O₂ mobile network (instead of the normal price of 8.32 euros per month).
