

Alfons Lösing

Chief Partner & Wholesale Officer

Member of the Board of Directors of Telefónica Deutschland Holding AG

Alfons Lösing is Chief Partner & Wholesale Officer of Telefónica Deutschland Holding AG. In this role he is responsible for the business with our partners.

He had been Managing Director B2P of Telefónica Germany since October 2014 and also led the “Digital Products” field. Prior to this position he was Managing Director of the E-Plus Group for three years and responsible for Innovative Business Models, Cooperations, Interconnection and International Roaming as Chief Wholesale Officer. He joined E-Plus already in the year of its foundation in 1993 and, following several leading roles in the financial field, established the Wholesale & Partnering field in 2002.

At the start of his career Alfons Lösing worked in several roles for Siemens AG in the business of unit systems engineering. The electrical engineering graduate (diploma from University GH Paderborn) and the business administration and engineering graduate (diploma from FH Bochum) was born in Vreden in 1964, is married and the father of two children.